Preface:

This book, Adventures with Computer, is the first of a series of preschool Computer books that aims to equip young children with the basic knowledge of computer literacy. It is presented in a manner that young learners will be interested and varied activities are provided within the level of their understanding. Lessons come in attractive graphic presentations and end with review of important terms that they encountered in the module.

It is hoped that through this book, young learners will gain the first hand experience towards computer literacy.
