Preface:

Journey through Arts and Alphabet is especially made to broaden the appreciation and imagination of each preschool child about the world they are in. This book provides opportunities to develop not only each child's visual perception and motor coordination but also his creativeness, keenness for directions, colors, shapes and letters.

If this book will be properly utilized, each preschool child will become more proficient in identifying objects, letters, shapes, and colors. And more importantly, he will acquire skills which will lead him to develop creativeness and interest in arts.
