Preface:

With the belief that one of man's basic needs is communication, the authors came up with the book Journey through Language. It is written with the purpose of developing the different communication skills, such as listening, speaking, reading, and writing. Through it, it is hoped that the children will be able to express their ideas, feelings, dreams, and expectations.

The book also presents the viewpoint that the language arts function more effectively in the lives of the preschool children if their language activities are guided by significant purposes. That is why the lessons included in the book are truly realistic, interwoven with Filipino values, and arranged in logical sequence. Ample activities are also given to enhance each child's imagination and to develop him to be a whole being and a true person in the society he lives in.
